Overview

The Commonwealth Governor's School (CGS) is a regional Academic-Year Governor's School program which serves gifted and highly motivated students across four counties, Caroline, King George, Spotsylvania, and Stafford.

Across these four participating school divisions, CGS has six separate sites and twelve participating high schools.

County	Site	Participating High Schools
Caroline County King George County	King George Site	Caroline HS King George HS
Spotsylvania County	Riverbend Site	Chancellor HS Riverbend HS
Spotsylvania County	Spotsylvania Site	Courtland HS Massaponax HS Spotsylvania HS
Stafford County	Colonial Forge Site	Brooke Point HS (Grades 11-12) Colonial Forge HS
Stafford County	North Stafford Site	Mountain View HS North Stafford HS
Stafford County	Stafford Site	Brooke Point HS (Grades 9-10) Stafford HS

Models of Instruction

The Commonwealth Governor’s School will offer two models for delivering instruction: virtual learning and hybrid instruction. CGS will provide models of instruction that match each participating school division.

All four participating school divisions are starting the school year with a 100% virtual learning plan. Each school division has delineated their start dates and potential dates for transitioning into hybrid instruction. CGS will honor these dates, and note that they are subject to change as determined by each individual school division. Please see the chart below.

School Division	Start Date	Transition Date to Hybrid/In-Person Learning
Caroline County	August 24, 2020	March 1, 2021
King George County	August 31, 2020	March 22, 2021
Spotsylvania County	August 17, 2020	October 12, 2020 & February 22, 2021
Stafford County	August 31, 2020	Grade 9 – February 9, 2021 Grades 10-12 – February 16, 2021

In the CGS virtual learning model, students will be provided synchronous (together with teachers), online instruction using Zoom daily and teachers will use Blackboard as the learning management system (LMS). Please note: teachers are provided flexibility to utilize Canvas or Google classroom for instructional purposes. However, all teachers will provide a link on their Blackboard page if they choose to use a separate system for organization and instruction. Blackboard is the central hub for CGS teachers and students, and families can access this site to find any and all materials for their CGS classes.

In the CGS hybrid learning model, students who have selected to return to school will be divided into two groups by their comprehensive high school. Those who attend in person will do so according to the schedule delineated by their school division.

- On days when hybrid learning students are not attending in person, those students will login to class via Zoom and receive synchronous instruction from their teachers with the other half of students who are attending in-person.
- CGS students who elect to stay 100% virtual when the hybrid plan goes into effect will continue to login to class via Zoom and will participate in classroom instruction virtually with the rest of their CGS grade level.

In the CGS in-person learning model, students who have selected to attend school in-person will attend four days per week. Those who attend in person will do so according to the schedule delineated by their school division.

When hybrid instruction begins and rolling closures occur due to COVID-19 exposure or spread, CGS students will revert back to the virtual learning model.

Schedules of Instruction

Due to the vastly different schedules between the four participating school divisions, CGS will be providing instruction in sub-regional pods for the 2020-2021 school year. All three sites in Stafford County will act as a pod, and the two sites in Spotsylvania and the one site in King George County will act as a second pod. Although the times do not align perfectly across the six sites, the CGS staff made a concerted effort to plan and schedule in a manner that allows students across the sites and region to interact with one another.

Calendars will be provided to students often via Blackboard or email to ensure they know when and where they should login for any particular class/activity. Please review the attached schedules closely as each county will follow a different schedule.

HYBRID SCHEDULE

Caroline County & King George County Schedules

These two counties never implemented a hybrid schedule during the 2020-2021 school year. Both counties went directly from virtual only instruction to in-person instruction four days per week keeping a virtual option available for students who chose that model.

Student Instruction & Related Services

CGS is committed to providing quality, rigorous instruction to all students in all learning models.

Addressing Learning Gaps

Students had a wide variety of experiences during the spring of 2020 during the initial COVID-19 school closures. Due to differences between school division plans, students may have experienced learning gaps in instructional content.

CGS will address these learning gaps using the following strategies:

- Providing summer assignments that review all pertinent concepts needed for upcoming course work in 2020-2021;
- Offering a virtual Mathematics Booster course to review Algebra I skills for all rising freshmen;
- Assessing students before, during, and after instruction and providing appropriate recovery strategies and progress monitoring to ensure success;
- Including review concepts during introductory instruction to ensure appropriate scaffolding of skills; and
- Using scheduled remediation and support time to help those in need.

Technology

Students will utilize a plethora of technology in order to participate in CGS learning this year.

- Zoom – CGS has purchased licenses for all CGS teachers to utilize Zoom as our virtual instruction platform. The paid version of Zoom has a variety of safety features that will keep our students safe, and it also provides many instructional components that help students stay more engaged with their peers and instructors. All Zoom lessons are recorded and archived in the Blackboard system, which is secure and password protected (in a similar manner that our Broadcast lessons were previously).
- Blackboard – Blackboard is the CGS Learning Management System (LMS) where all CGS courses can be accessed. If teachers choose to use another program (such as Canvas or Google Classroom), students will be able to access that program directly by logging into Blackboard and clicking a link on their course page.
- Virtual Lab Software – CGS is purchasing various types of laboratory software for students to be able to participate in labs in the sciences.
- Device Needs – Each school division is providing all students with a device if one is needed. Each school division will release information on when and where students may pick up a device.

- Internet Access – Students who do not have any internet access or insufficient access may be able to come to their comprehensive high school building to obtain access (depending upon the school division). Additionally, some school divisions are loaning hot spots to students without access in areas where they will work efficiently. If internet access is a concern, please contact the CGS Director, Mrs. Jennifer Grigsby, at jgrigsby@cgs.k12.va.us or 540-548-1278 so she can assist you.

Assessments

The CGS Honor Code (<http://cgsva.org/honor-code/>) is a key component of our belief system and focus on learning in this program. Grades are an indication of mastery of content, and honesty in the process of earning grades is paramount to truly helping students grow and develop fully as learners. Students will be assessed in the following ways:

- Formative assessments during virtual learning,
- Guided practice with peers,
- Independent practice including homework,
- Summative assessments that may be take-home and open-note and/or completed while online with teacher supervision without resources, and
- Performance assessments including writing assignments and project-based learning assignments.

Field Experiences

CGS provides unique field experiences to students in our program. Currently, CGS has scheduled virtual field experiences through the remainder of 2020. We have tentatively scheduled in-person field experiences starting in 2021, but we will reassess these trips and COVID-19 conditions as we get nearer to the departure dates.

Transportation

If and when school divisions begin offering the hybrid model of instruction, all participating school divisions will continue offering transportation to our travel students who come from remote comprehensive high schools to the CGS sites. Additionally, school divisions who are permitting students without internet access the ability to access the school building will provide bus transportation for those students as well. Please contact your school for more information.

Communication

The CGS Director and CGS teachers will communicate with families via email with information and instruction updates. In mid-August, all CGS students will receive an email with a link to a Google form from the CGS Director. This form must be completed in order to create a database of valid emails for all CGS families across all six sites. If form completion is a concern, families may contact Mrs. Grigsby at 540-548-1278.

Special Services

Students with an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) or 504 Plan will continue to receive their services and accommodations. All school divisions will be conducting meetings with families to update these plans to reflect the virtual learning environment and create strategies to best help those students to succeed in all of their classes, including CGS. CGS teachers will be available to help students outside of the assigned classroom instructional hours as indicated on the division schedules.

Since CGS is a program focused on meeting the needs of gifted and highly motivated learners, we will continue to provide instruction and learning opportunities focused on differentiating instructional pace, process, and product that meet the needs of our students.

Family Support

Parents should check-in with their child daily to ask about their child's learning and stress level. Ask open-ended questions that provide the student an opportunity to share what they learned and what activities they did to master the content and interact with their peers and teachers. Ask your child how they are feeling and if you can help them in any way (reading them questions from a study guide, help them organize their time/space, etc.).

Helping teenagers get the appropriate amount of sleep, eat healthy meals, engage in physical activity daily, and have a designated space to learn from home without distractions are all helpful strategies to increase a student's ability to maximize success in a virtual learning environment.

If your child is struggling in any manner, please reach out to your child's teacher and site leader as soon as possible. The CGS staff at each site want to help your child succeed, and they may have strategies to offer to help your child in the areas where they are struggling.

Social Emotional Well-Being of Students & Families Resources
